MAINLAND BOXER WELCOMED HOME

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27 (CP).—Mayor L. D. Taylor, the Board of Aldermen, the Housing Commission and some 1,200 admirers paid tribute to Jimmy McLarnin, Vancouver's spectacular young boxer, when he was given a civic reception here today, the first in his ten years of fighting. The reception was Vancouver's welcome home to the Irish-Canadian fighter who recently defeated Benny Leonard in New York.

MARQUESS OF READING IS GUEST AT OTTAWA

OTTAWA, Oct. 27 (CP).—The second ex-Viceroy of India to visit Ottawa this year, the Marquess of Reading, arrived today. He was the guest of the Prime Minister at a luncheon which was attended by members of the House of Commons, the Senate and departmental executives.

MR. MACDONALD AS PRIME MINISTER

Sir—Your issue of September 15 is just to hand and I have read with very great interest the letter of Mr. Spencer Percival, of Port Washington, and I endorse every word he says. The record of Mr. MacDonald during the war period was, to say the least, a bad and very dishonest one. Indeed, at one time the saloons of a government fleet refused to convey him by ship from any port in England to the Continent.

CABLED FOR CLOTH

He turned then to the advantage of the Canadian market, and secured from a Bradford manufacturer, which said immediately the Ottawa cable order for light woolen dress cloth.

TYPIST LOSES WAGES ACTION

Judge Finds Girl Was Mistaken as to Status of Employers

That Miss Margaret Rogers, stenographer, was not employed by the Investors Syndicate, but was an employee of the agents for the company in Victoria and engaged by private arrangement, was the decision handed down in County Court here yesterday by Judge Peter S. Lampman.

Miss Rogers sued the Investors Syndicate, claiming $400 in wages the amount being the difference between that which she was paid and that which she was entitled to under the provisions of the Minimum Wage Act. She had been receiving $4 a week and under the act was entitled to $15.

JUDGE'S DECISION

The judgment of the court is as follows: This is a claim by a girl for the difference between the amount of wages she received and the amount she should have received, according to the Minimum Wage Act. She having been paid less than the minimum required. The defence takes the objection that as the plaintiff is under the age of twenty-one years she should have sued by a next friend as required by the rules.

Section 8 of the Minimum Wage Act gives the board power to fix a minimum wage and Section 14 gives the right to recover in a civil action the balance between the amount of the minimum wage and the amount paid and the effect of the two sections is, I think, to make the plaintiff's action a claim for wages and hence she is suing properly in her own name as allowed by Section 60 of the County Courts Act.

"A more serious ground of defence is that the plaintiff was not employed by the defendants, but she in the first instance she was engaged by Colonel L. W. S. Cockburn and one, Simpson, in their individual or private capacity. I do not think that either Colonel Cockburn or Simpson, or the two acting together, had authority to engage plaintiff on behalf of the defendants and on the facts that occurred at the time of hiring, I have no doubt they engaged plaintiff in their private capacity.

"MISTAKE EMPLOYERS
"Since that time there are some circumstances and documents which tend to show that the defendants were the employers, but, on the other hand, the plaintiff has made statements, both verbally and in writing, which would indicate she thought her employer was the Victoria representative, instead of the defendant.

"I am not inclined to put much reliance on any of these letters and statements for two reasons; one is that at the time no attention was directed to the matter now in issue, and the other is that where letters are relied on they are unsafe guides because of the fact that the writers seemed to me to lack the capacity to put in writing anything very exact.

"The bond and application certainly are in the plaintiff's favor, but I do not think they are conclusive as to the facts. The usual case is no doubt that the person for whose acts the bond is given is an employee of the person in whose interest the bond is to be operative, but there may be other cases in which a bond may be given and this is an instance of one of them. What is clear is that in the first instance plaintiff was not engaged by the defendants and no new bargain was ever made.

"The defendants are entitled to judgment."

FERNIE MINERS FACE PROBLEMS

Importation of Coal in Southeastern B.C. Is Resented in Area

Impressed with the special problems faced by Fernie and nearby coal mining areas in regard to relief of unemployment, Hon. W. A. McKenzie returned to the city yesterday, after a visit to the district in which he conferred with mine operators and other officials.

Some eastern British Columbia areas are importing coal from outside the province at a rate that would provide employment for 200 miners in the Crow's Nest Pass coal fields on a half-time basis, Mr. McKenzie pointed out.

Many British Columbia miners in the area are working one day a week, with little prospect of improvement in the immediate future.

At the same time, Fernie civic authorities have asked the Government to take over the entire care of relief in that area, having exhausted funds with which to contribute to the national relief plan.

World production of rayon this year is expected to total 483,232,000 pounds.

GOVERNMENT TO MEET GROWERS

Will Discuss Sinking Fund
Charges With Irrigation Districts

Plans for a Provincial review of irrigation districts in British Columbia, in which members of the Government would visit each project and confer with the district boards and growers, were in contemplation at the Legislative Buildings yesterday, preparatory to final settlement of a new policy in regard to sinking fund charges on irrigation loans advanced from the conservation fund.

Hon. N. S. Loughheed, Minister of Lands, announced the Government had decided that no arbitrary scale of sinking fund collections would be put into effect, until the Government had first met those who have borrowed the money, and assessed the special conditions of each irrigation area, no two being alike.

ORDER RESCINDED

During the day the Cabinet rescinded its original order as to the collection of interest at the rate of 6 per cent, and sinking fund payments at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent, on loans advanced in 1930 and 1931, and passed a new order, providing for collection of interest, only on such loans. Loans made in 1932 will not be subject to the arrangement until the completion of the year, by which time the whole policy will have been settled, it is expected.

Withdrawal of sinking fund collections on new loans, as at first provided, was temporary, it was emphasized and subject to full Government review of the whole situation on the ground. Before any final scale of payments is set, however, the Province plans to confer with the irrigation districts, to arrive at a policy that will be moderate and workable, in regard to all the circumstances.

SUNSHINE INN IS IMPROVED

Many Repairs Effected—
Nearly 60,000 Meals
Served This Year

Meals served at Sunshine Inn since the beginning of the year to needy persons, total nearly 60,000, it was announced yesterday by Captain Burgess J. Chisden, manager of the institution. During the month of September, alone, a total of 6,580 meals were served, including 700 for children and 170 for women.

During last month considerable improvements were carried out at the Inn. A much needed addition was constructed by members of the Kiwanis Club. The building was painted by A. M. McAuley and his workmen with paint provided by the Paint & Supply Company. Windows were repaired by Rex Williams. Material being supplied by Messrs. Schmidt & Son. Metal drains were replaced through the courtesy of the British Sheet Metal Works and the Pacific Sheet Metal Works, while Miller & Patterson, sign painters, provided a new sign for the Inn.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Patria branch of the Canadian Legion put up curtains to all the windows, thus completing an entire renovation.

An appeal was made for more cash donations, and also for supplies of vegetables and other foods. Cash donations amounting to $254.68, were received during September.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

A COSTLY ERROR
Watching a rubber of bridge at a New York club the other day, I saw what was probably the most costly error that I have ever run across. However, the end of the hand in question was marked by complete silence, apparently because the mistake was so horrible and so costly that it seemed to transcend the usual post-mortems and squabbles which generally follow such exhibitions.

A glance at the bidding and play of the hand will immediately convince anyone that the participants in this game were not experts.

North-Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

7. No more optimistic than the jump takeout bid on the previous round.
8. Decides to gamble it out, and does not bid four clubs for the same reasons that he did not do so on the previous rounds.
9. With this magnificent bidding, our story merely starts. South opened the spade king and north played low, East, of course, following with his singleton. South now quite properly shifted to a heart and North took the trick with the ten-spot. At this point the very brilliant man sitting in the North seat went into a long huddle. What went through his mind, if anything, I will never know. At any rate, he came out with a bid of 10-6. Result: East and West made three no trump, redoubled, with two overtricks instead of going down exactly eight tricks, or 6,000 points. And believe it or not, South did not open his mouth, while North is still alive and seemingly in good health, according to latest reports.

Had Icy Swim to Secure His Goose

QUESTNEL, B.C., Oct. 27 (CP).—The wild goose is a wily bird, especially in a grain field. But a half-mile crawl through wet stubble is preferable to a hundred-yard crawl stroke in a lake that's covered with a thin coating of ice.

A Vancouver goose hunter is firmly of this opinion after retrieving a hooker brought down over Blue Gulch Lake, Alexandria. Rather than return without his bird, the Vancouver man, persistently baffled in previous grain field efforts, cast off his clothes, armed himself with a handy sapling, broke the shore ice and swam out to the goose.

RALPH WALTERS DENIES CHARGE

Former Brokerage Official
Says Ownership of Banks
Never Mentioned

Ralph W. Walters, former vice-president of the defunct Bankers' Holding Corporation which operated in the State of Washington prior to the 1930 stock crash, was on the witness stand for four hours yesterday testifying in his own defence against extradition to the United States to be tried on a charge of grand larceny.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Stuart Henderson, counsel for Mr. Walters, announced he desired to call three new witnesses, and the hearing was adjourned until next Thursday morning.

DENIES OWNERSHIP

Mr. Walters, who is wanted by the American authorities for grand larceny, emphatically denied he had told Merton Moses that the Bankers' Holding Corporation "owned" four banks in the State of Washington when, in reality, it only controlled the banks.

The application and warrant for extradition were made to the Canadian authorities here on the information of Merton Moses, of Auburn, Wash., who claimed he had purchased $2450 worth of stock in the Bankers' Holding Corporation on the representation of Ralph W. Walters and Charles E. Walters that the corporation owned the four state banks.

FINANCIAL STRUCTURE

On the witness stand yesterday Mr. Walters testified to the financial structure of the corporation, which was started for the purpose of buying banks in the State of Washington. The corporation had secured control of four and considerable stock in the corporation had been sold to the public through the Charles E. Walters Company on the basis of that control. He admitted that mortgages and notes had been accepted as payment for stock in the corporation, but denied there was anything irregular in the transactions of the company.

C. L. Harrison, counsel for the State of Washington, was cross-examining Mr. Walters when the court was adjourned late yesterday afternoon.

The unhappy motorist was looking at his car engine, which had suddenly stopped.
"You know anything about cars?" he asked a passing pedestrian.
"Well, I've been mixed up in them a bit," replied the onlooker.
"The motorist's face brightened. 'Mechanic, eh?' he asked.
"No," smiled the onlooker, pedestrian.

ACCIDENT CAUSES DEATH

That the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Kruse, of 1144 Yates Street, was due to an accident was the verdict of a coroner's jury which yesterday inquired into the circumstances surrounding the fatality that occurred Tuesday. According to the evidence, Mrs. Kruse had been subjected to epilepsy for a number of years and it is believed she was stricken while engaged in washing Rev. J. P. Hicks will officiate, and chairs in the kitchen of her home Oak Burial Park.

LAST RITES TODAY

Funeral services for John Peter Weinmeister, who passed away in this city on Wednesday, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the home of his wife, Mrs. J. P. Hicks will officiate, and chairs in the kitchen of her home Oak Burial Park.

THE IMPERIAL TRADE TREATIES

Mr. Mackenzie King has misread the implications of the Imperial Trade Treaties consummated at Ottawa. In denouncing them he said that they would "fetter the fiscal policy and freedom of the Empire entire freedom of action
in any commercial arrangements they may seek to make in the future." Mr. Mackenzie King must know this. The point had been made absolutely clear by Mr. Stanley Baldwin, by Mr.
R. B. Bennett and by every other delegate who sat at the Imperial Conference. The position of Britain and the rest of the Empire has been prejudiced in no sense by the efforts to build up inter-Imperial trade. On the contrary, the inter-Empire agreements have pointed the way
to how freer trade may be developed, a policy
which was very close to the heart of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Mr. Mackenzie King has made both a tactical and political blunder in opposing the Imperial Trade Treaties, and particularly because of the basis of his opposition. The vast majority of the people of Canada are anxious that these treaties should be given a fair trial. Political obstruction to economic well being is an indication of efforts to secure partisan advantage by the prolongation of depression. It may be doubted if the people of Canada will be prepared to forgive and vote for a party which is adopting the attitude now so strenuously being advocated by Mr. Mackenzie King and his supporters.

PRODUCTION OF GOLD

The advance towards par value of the Canadian dollar in New York is a matter being hailed with satisfaction, but it is not an unmixed blessing. It is significant that as the dollar improves in exchange value the pound has declined, and Britain is well pleased, knowing full well that it is a process that can be checked at will. The interests in Canada which will not welcome the return of the dollar to par value on the New York
exchange are those engaged in gold production.
The Canadian Mint, when it buys gold, pays exchange compensation equivalent to the premium
on American funds in the Dominion at that date.
This extra profit, when the rate was at or near its peak, amounted to as much for some of the gold producers as did the profit from treating the ore. The Financial Post explains why gold producers will not welcome a return of the dollar
to par value:

"For instance, a mine recovering $10 in gold
per ton of ore milled and having an over-all cost of $6 per ton would have had net earning increased 25 per cent with exchange at 10 per cent.
With the exchange at 17.28, the average for last January, earnings would have been increased 43 per cent. A mine that recovered $8 per ton with costs of $6 per ton would have its earnings increased by 50 per cent when United States funds were at a premium of 10 per cent and would have earnings increased by 86 per cent by a premium of 17.28 per cent such as prevailed last January."

It is obvious, therefore, that the adverse rate of exchange against the Canadian dollar has had a very important effect in stimulating gold mining in the century. Last year the production of gold in this country was valued at $55,000,000.
This year the expectation is that the value will increase to $63,000,000. Of the other hand, if the dollar regains its par value it is conceivable
that there will be a falling off in production.
There are some mines that it may not be profitable to work if the premium on gold that now maintains is not continued.

PERSPECTIVE OF NEWS VALUES

There is truth and at least a medium of common sense in the statement of a reader of this newspaper that newspapers as a whole are not as interesting as they used to be in former years. When asked to what she attributed this fact, the reader in question said her belief was that newspapers devoted far too much space to political and economic matters. They were matters in which she said she was not interested in the least. That, by some, may be regarded as a confession of unconcern about some of the most vital policies of the time. The fact is, however, that there are many readers of newspapers
who take no interest at all, or only interest of a languid and perfunctory order, in the trend of political action and in the dryadist statistics of trade.

Public interest in news has not changed. It is the newspapers that, in these latter years,
have been laying emphasis on matters which previously used to be dismissed in a more routine
fashion. It is but natural that economic conditions should bulk largely in the press. Instance and reiteration of all sorts of views and opinions affecting the political, fiscal and economic outlook have, however, confused the public mind. There is a certain weariness apparent about it all, and a feeling that newspapers are somewhat obsessed.

Newspapers always do overdo their function
when they enter the realm of propaganda. Their mission is the purveyance of news, and when they keep on repeating themselves and repeating over and over again the statements of speakers they are wearying their readers. It is the growth of this practice which has made newspapers less interesting than they were. In their perspective of news values, and particularly in the perspective of news agencies, there is an evidence of an obsession induced by economic conditions. The public are inclined to resent the implication that such matters dwarf all other interests. They want the other interests as well,

and, because they are lacking, appreciation
may conceivably wane in their estimate of the part played by the press in informing public opinion.

In any perspective of news values it is a well known truism in any newspaper office that
"that which is nearest us touches us most." The passions rise higher at domestic than at Imperial tragedies." That basic conception of news values
has shown a tendency to be discarded in the face of economic conditions. It is a process which will right itself eventually, when a more widespread realization comes about that the percentage of people interested in politics and trade,
though greater than it was, is not so overwhelming as to affect any particular change in the conception of news values. There are a thousand and one other interests in life which will continue to make news of the highest importance.
It is somewhat of a paradox that the newspaper emphasized placed on political news has tended to bring governments into disrepute. The more political news comes into prominence the more political iconoclasm in public opinion is in evidence. The trouble is that people are being spoon-fed with a diet of paternalism in government, and, like Oliver Twist, they come to ask for more, while at the same time biting the hand
that feeds them.

BRITISH WOOLENS

Canada is the best customer, outside of Britain, of the Yorkshire woolen manufacturers.
She is likely to be a better customer still as a result of the agreement with Britain arising out of the Imperial Conference. In the first eight months of 1932 Canada bought more woolen and worsted cloth from manufacturers in Great Britain than any other country inside or outside the Empire. The same proportion of purchases was maintained during the first eight months of the present year. According to a statement issued by the Canadian Woolen and Knit Goods Manufacturers' Association the yards of woolen and worsted cloth sold by Great Britain in the first eight months of 1931 were as follows:

|                      | Yards     |
|----------------------|-----------|
| Canada               | 6,826,400 |

Dr. William J. Mayo says that "we are being brought appreciably nearer to the day when there shall be no unnecessary deaths." That is something that has been accomplished by the enforced return to a more simple life on the part of a large section of humanity. That is good for people physically, but they yet have to combine in the experience a sound and well-balanced mind in a healthy body.

Elections never were and never will be the best means of choosing the best men for the task of government. They will continue, however, as long as the voice of the people must prevail. It is a far cry to the evolution of any other method.

THE DEPRESSION OF CHARACTER

For our own sake as well as the world's we have got to get out of the depression into which we have been plunged by the last decade, not the economic depression alone, but the depression of character and standards of national life. We have got to get out of the mud and slime of our own character and our moral and political and our crime and our dependence
on a big income for happiness, of our get-rich-quick philosophy, of our selfishness and isolation, of our caring for nothing else in the world if we can be temporarily prosperous. The nation cannot transcend the level of its citizens, and a citizen can find no lasting happiness in striving all his life for unworthy objects. Only boredom or a disinterested desire for an endlessly ascending scale of possessions can result.—James Truslow Adams in Scribner's (New York).

Note and Comment

By R. H. D.

What's one man's poison, another,
Is another man's meat and drink.
—Macdonald and Fletcher

Signor Mussolini prophesies that Fascism will dominate Europe within the space of ten years. It is written that whether there be prophecies they shall fail, and it may be that the Duce is a trifle too optimistic, just as believers in the virtues and principles of the Democracy failed when they prophesied that the system established by Mussolini would decline
and fall as suddenly as it sensationally and spectacularly ascended. There is no longer any doubt that the Duce is a winning card. There is nothing in the world, beginning with politics and ending with anything you may
name, that possesses the elements of permanency (which may be quite as good a word as "normality").

While it is true that Fascism
saved Italy when threatened with anarchy and chaos, it does not follow that Fascism as a political system would be applicable to nations whose people are entirely different in temperament from the volatile and emotional Italians. We see by the papers that Sir Oswald Moseley, the versatile and accommodating public man who, although of lofty social lineage, became a political apostate for the purpose of joining first the Labor Party and then the extreme Socialist Party,
has again recanted.

Sir Oswald has been sojourning
in various parts of Europe and surveying the political situation there.
Maybe he has had an interview with Signor Mussolini. The papers have not said anything about that;
but the erstwhile Conservative and Socialist has taken occasion by the hand of the bull by the horns, and has nominated himself as the leader of a British Fascist Party. He has begun to make speeches and to lead processions (which have culminated in riots), and that is the orthodox way of establishing new political parties in most parts of the world.

Basing our opinion of the character of Sir Oswald upon his passages, we venture to predict that if the gifted but erratic gentleman
had extended his travels to include Russia, he might have decided that the salvation of Great Britain depended upon adoption of the Soviet system, which is a form of dictatorship not materially different from the system which has proved the salvation of Italy. Any change of system would suit Sir Oswald provided it is different from the existing system, and he is the leader of it.

Whatever we may think of the prophecy of Signor Mussolini and of the merits or otherwise of his system of government which has endured longer than most people
expected, there is this to be said in favor of them: that in Italy they have put an end to the formation of new political parties, which is the bane of countries that adhere to the democratic system of government. There is but one political party in Italy, and the man at the head of it seems to be a genius of no common order. Mussolini is not only the head of the Italian government. He is the chief of the Italian state to the extent at least that he has completely obscured the hereditary ruler of the state, the sovereign. If there are decrees of the state to be issued, they are issued by the plebeian dictator, and there is no demerit from either the King or the people. There is internal tranquility in Italy, and the relations of the nation with other nations are amicable. And while all other great nations are suffering from the world-wide business depression, Italy seems to be the least affected in that respect of all the nations. Thus if Fascism is not destined to prove a permanent system, it has at least fulfilled a useful purpose as a temporary system.

There is another aspect to the system known as Fascism which is worthy of serious consideration.
While a great deal has been said
and written about it not proved a source of inspiration to leaders of public opinion in other countries.
We may not attach a great deal of value to the inspiration Sir Oswald Moseley derived from a study of the conditions in Italy nor to the consequent attempt of Sir Oswald to establish a Fascist Party in Great Britain, for the people of Britain
will never submit to a dictatorship
by a party or an individual. But the conditions in Germany seem to be ripe for the establishment of some new form of government and administration, and there can be no doubt that Herr Hitler derived his inspiration from Mussolini, although he might have gone to Stalin and imbibed ideas of a more radical character. Germany fourteen years after the end of the war
is in a position very similar to the condition of Italy immediately after the war. Germany today is in a state of political chaos. Italy
after the war was saved from ruin
by a dictator. Hitler may possess
none of the qualities of Mussolini
except the one quality of vaulting
ambition; but the German people

may endow Hitler with imaginary
qualities for leadership and dictatorship, and the Teutonic democracy, which is partly a skeleton and partly a shadow, may be engulfed
in another revolution, in which the exiled royal family is more likely to play the principal part than Hitler.

THE WORTH OF A ROSE

Nobody knows
The worth of a rose;
But when one lies
In the palm of your hand,
As its sweets arise
You will understand.
For, ah! it will bring
Lost garden ways,
The joys of Spring
And the moon's white ray!
A song's refrain
That, you know last year
Came back again,
And your love is near!
Just how and why
You can never guess;
But a world may lie
In its well-being.
Nobody knows
The worth of a rose!

SAANICH STREET RIGHTS

Sir,—There appears to be considerable dissatisfaction over the street lights, or the lack of them, in Saanich. Probably a date has been set for turning them on again.
There is no doubt these lights
have been in operation by September 1. Perhaps the reeve and councillors don't require to use them, and they should show a little more consideration for these people.
We all appreciate the council's efforts to economize at the present time, but there is such a thing as false economy. I have lived in the Mount Tolmie district for a number of years and on various occasions
I have seen these lights going struck at 9 o'clock in the morning.
Well, perhaps there wasn't so much
need for economy in those days.
The light leading to the street car
half way up the hill has been out of commission for several nights at a time. Then there is the question of branches obstructing the light.
This matter requires immediate attention. For goodness sake let's have the full value of the lights.
Isn't it anybody's business to look after these matters?

Here is a suggestion for the reeve and council. When these lights are in operation again why not turn them off 15 minutes after the last car or bus has left the different districts. Everybody is in bed, or should be, by that time. Of course there may be reasons why this cannot be done, but if it can be, there would be a considerable saving
which could be used to install a few more badly-needed lights.

RIPLEY AND PIN DROPPING

Sir,—Ripley's views, if not his, have been recently published in a portrait of a child and the statement that this child could actually drop a pin drop. The imputation intended, of course, "supposed"
to be correct, by Ripley, was that this child had superacute hearing,
perhaps the only child in the world
to have such acute hearing. This is rubbish, and it is such statements that tend to bring ridicule on Ripley's "strange recordings." In the first place, nevertheless, the one under discussion being one of the exceptions. Others equally silly appear from time to time, though.
Just as Mrs. Wilkinson's letter implies, persuading the public that they must subscribe to Tune In
in order to submit their photographs
to the Commonwealth Productions, Ltd.

We may say that, in a conversation with Mr. Bishop, the president of the company, he stated that we were doing him a service by making our offer as, by so doing, we were building up a casting department
from which his casting director might choose persons suitable for extra work in motion pictures.

WORLD TRADE

Sir,—During the recent debate at Ottawa on the Imperial Treaties,
Mr. Mackenzie King and his followers expressed the fear that these Imperial Treaties might cause the diminution of the rest of the world and invite reprisals, and, incidentally, it was suggested by them that world
trade is what Canada wants, and by implication, not Imperial trade.

Now, just what is meant by world
trade which appears to be exercising Mr. Mackenzie King and his followers' minds?
In the twelve months ending
August, 1932, under the Dunning budget, Canada's trade was as follows:

Imports Exports
United Kingdom 15.5% 28.2%
Rest of British Empire 5.9% 8.1%

Total, British Empire 21.4% 36.3%
U.S.A. 40.2% 46.5%
Rest of World 13.4% 15.2%

Total 100.0% 100.0%

In the twelve months ending
August, 1932, Canada's trade position was as follows:

Imports Exports
United Kingdom 18.9% 32.8%
Rest of British Empire 7.5% 8.9%

Total 26.4% 41.7%

U.S.A. 40.2% 46.5%

Rest of World 13.4% 15.2%

Total 100.0% 100.0%

It is indubitable that under Mr.
Bennett our imports from Great Britain increased by 6.1 per cent in two years, while our exports to the United Kingdom increased by 6.1 per cent. In our trade with the rest of the Empire our imports increased by 1.6 per cent, and exports decreased by 1.1 per cent.

In our trade with the rest of the world, excluding the United States, our purchases from them
increased from 12.4 per cent to 14.3
per cent, and they are buying from us now 23.2 per cent of our total exports as against 18.2 per cent.
It is only in our trade with the United States that our imports

It Will Do the Same for You

WHEN will the world come to realize that the food it eats is of transcending importance?
If "higher civilization" means more denatured—
more refined foods—sickness and disease will become rampant; disease of all the vital organs
will continue their gruesome rate of increase.

We must overcome the state of acidity (excess acid) to which modern foods reduce the blood.

The blood of civilized people must be turned back again to a normally alkaline state if we are to resist the attacks of disease.

People are commencing to realize this. This is why more and more people are turning to Roman Meal as the most important agent in restoring alkalinity to the blood. Roman Meal is one of the three alkali-forming grain foods known—Bekus Puddy and Lishus being the other two. These,
with milk, fresh fruits and vegetables, overcome
excess acid and, by making the blood normally alkaline, turn the human body into a fortress impregnable to the relentless attacks of disease.

What Roman Meal has done
for others it will do for you

Disease does not simply "come to you"; wrong
living invites disease. Right living banishes it

From our morning mail:—

We receive scores of such letters daily

"I began using Roman Meal immediately
and in a short time was so much improved
that my son and his children are now using it daily and has recommended it to several friends who also report much benefit from its use."

and exports have shown decline,
and this has been mainly brought about by the Hawley-Smoot tariffs and the recent further increase of tariffs, copper, etc. The United States has shown clearly that it does not want to trade with us on anything like a basis of fair
exchange, and in consequence
we have had to find new markets for our products. Mr. Bennett has very successfully grappled with the situation created by the attitude of the United States.

Since it has been only the United States which has been doing less trade with us, are we to assume that Mr. Mackenzie King's world is the United States of America?
It would appear so.

Boy Scouts Movement Makes Great Progress

Victoria Has Thirty-Three Units—Major J. Wise
New District Commissioner—Lord Colville on Provincial Executive—S. M. Oliver President

Probably the greatest stride in the Boy Scout movement in this city was made during the past twelve months, if the reports submitted at the annual meeting of the Victoria Boy Scouts' Association can be taken as any criterion.

Major J. Wise, assistant district commissioner, reported that whereas last year the district had nine active troops and eight active packs, this year there were one rover crew, eighteen active troops and fourteen active packs. Of the troops, two are Sea Scout troops, which incidentally are distinctively different from Sea Cadets, who belong to an entirely different organization.

DISTRIBUTE AWARDS
That quality is not being sacrificed for quantity was evidenced by the fact that fourteen King's Scout badges and twenty-one first class badges were awarded during the past year.

The report of Major Wise also revealed that the Scouts had been active in other quarters. The Christmas toy shop operated last year gathered in 4,000 toys. These were mended by Scouts and distributed to 1,000 children. The Scouts also participated in the Home Products Fair, the Island Rally held at Beacon Hill Park last June, and formed a guard of honor for the Governor-General during Lord Bessborough's visit to this city last August. It is planned, the report said, to conduct another Christmas toy shop this year.

TRIBUTES PAID
As a tribute to his untiring energy and enthusiasm in Boy Scout work, the meeting elected by acclamation Major Wise to the post of district commissioner to replace Lord Colville, whose work as district commissioner during the past year was rewarded in his appointment to the provincial executive.

W. Solway, executive commissioner for British Columbia, attended the meeting and delivered a message to those present, in the name of the Boy Scout movement. He said he was glad to see that this organization was being more fully recognized by the church, and expressed the hope that all troops would be affiliated with some church.

Those who have grown to manhood during the past three decades, have handed on a heritage to the youths now growing up that is nothing more than a chaotic state of affairs. It should be the duty of adults to train these youths and see that they are directed along the right spiritual path, and that their characters are so developed that they may manfully grapple with the intricate problems that face them.

ELECT OFFICERS
Election of officers resulted in Sydney M. Oliver being named president by acclamation.

Other officers elected were: Vice-president, Colonel A. A. Sharland; treasurer, Raymond W. Jones; secretary, Walter C. Dixon; auditor, G. H. Stevens; executive, Hew Paterson; Major E. B. Spangin, H. D. Colley, C. W. Pangman, Mr. and Mrs. Guy M. Shaw, Mrs. Guy Goddard, Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps, Mrs. A. Gillespie, H. B. Hunter, Rev. Montague Bruce, T. A. Simmons, E. B. Proud, Major J. B. Hardinge, T. Daisell, Mrs. G. H. Bisset, Mrs. K. C. Symon, and three scouts to be nominated later.

Papal Delegate to Mexico Arrested

WOMEN are seen kissing the ring on the hand of Archbishop Ruiz y Flores, papal delegate to Mexico, shortly before he was arrested and exiled by the Mexican Government in retaliation for the recent papal encyclical which denounced the Mexican Government for its "persecution" of the Catholic church in Mexico. Although born in Mexico, the Archbishop was deported as an alien, the Government terming him so for his allegiance to the Pope, a ruler of a sovereign state.

ALL OFFICERS ARE RETURNED

University Extension Ass'n
Re-elects G. A. A. Hebben
President

G. A. A. HEBBEN

G. A. A. Hebben was re-elected president of the University Extension Association at the annual meeting held last night.

The election of officers resulted in all officials being returned to office for another year. They are Miss J. A. Gann, vice-president; J. T. Stott, secretary; L. Clark, assistant secretary; and Mrs. H. E. Young, Mrs. E. C. Hart, Miss M. J. Clay, P. H. Elliott, E. S. Farr, Ira Dilworth, J. L. Watson, A. B. Sanders, and W. E. Pierce, members of the executive committee.

Mr. Stott urged upon the association the necessity for increased membership and more liberal donations to the work.

In presenting the annual financial statement, he showed that while there was a fair surplus carried over from last year, the reduction in the grant to the university this year made it impossible to obtain the usual help from that source.

John D. Graham, Ninety-One Years Old, Was Familiar With

One of British Columbia's early prospectors came to the end of "the last trail" yesterday in the death of John D. Graham, aged ninety-one years. Mr. Graham had been confined to the Jubilee Hospital for some time and seemed unable to rally from his illness.

Mr. Graham was born in Ireland, and came to this province in 1862. He spent many years in the Cariboo prospecting, and there was little of the upper country with which he was not familiar.

None of his relatives resides in this city. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

INDIAN HISTORY SLIGHTLY KNOWN

W. M. Halliday, J.P., Says British Columbians Should Learn More
of Province's Pioneers

"Few people in British Columbia know the history of Indians in this province as well as they should," W. M. Halliday, J.P., retiring Indian agent, told members of the Klusmen Club last night during an address on "The Kwawwuth Indians." Mr. Halliday was engaged in Indian work for the Federal Government for more than forty years, and recently retired from his post as agent at Alert Bay.

Mr. Halliday explained that many people were unaware of the reasons why the Dominion Government spends as much money as it does in keeping the Indians. He explained that British Columbia entered Confederation on the understanding that the Federal Government would provide for the Indians of this province at the time the Crown had done during the days that Vancouver Island and the Mainland were Crown colonies.

LEARNS HISTORY

When Mr. Halliday first took up his work among the Kwawwuth Indians, who centre about Nimpkish River, Alert Bay and Coast inlets of the vicinity, he inquired of several older Indians, who had lived in the days when there were no white men in the province, of the manner in which the Indian had existed in former times. He was very interested in the explanation and demonstration of the use of the old stone hammers and flintstone chisels, with which the Indians fashioned their canoes. It required nearly two months to cut a tree down for the canoes and nearly a year's work by members of the tribe to complete it.

"The Indian is very ingenious," Mr. Halliday said, demonstrating this by relating incidents of their ingenuity in navigation and construction work.

Coast Indians, he explained, live on sea foods and are fishermen rather than hunters. When Mr.

The Upward Trend of Public Confidence

MONEY rates are a barometer of conditions. Lower interest rates and consequent rising bond prices indicate confidence. This upward trend of confidence has been evident in the important financial centres of the world.

Investors have recognized the encouraging world-wide tendency toward lower interest rates by subscribing heavily to recent public issues. There is cause for satisfaction in the fact that bonds of the Dominion of Canada are sharing in the improvement that is taking place.

Plan Now to Buy the New Dominion of Canada Bonds

On Monday, October 31st, there will be offered to the Canadian public an issue of $80,000,000 Dominion of Canada 4% Bonds, 1932. They will be offered at a discount which will provide an income yield in line with present interest rates. This issue will offer Canadians an opportunity to obtain the soundest investment for their savings and, at the same time, to render an important national service.

As an investor and as a citizen—for your individual benefit and for national advantage—plan now to buy the new Dominion of Canada Bonds when they are offered on Monday.

This preliminary advertisement is published by THE DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE to enable Canadian investors to make arrangements to participate in this offering.

MARCHERS CONVERGE ON LONDON STARTING RIOT IN HYDE PARK

HUGE CROWD FORMS

At the beginning of the trouble the crowd inside the park, around 50,000, had been entirely peaceable. Two dozen or more soap boxes had been set up, and from these the orators ranted against the condition of the jobs. Most of their condemnation was directed against the "means test," a provision of the dole system which requires certain recipients of Government aid to furnish proof that they have no other means of subsistence.

It was specifically to protest against the "means test" that 2,000 jobless men and women from Scotland, Wales and many parts of England organized the march, which the authorities said was inspired by agents from Moscow.

COMMUNIST INSPIRATION

Their suspicion in this direction appeared to be borne out by the appearance of the Soviet emblem on banners which many of the marchers carried. Most of them were red rosettes, and many parts of England organized the march, which the authorities said was inspired by agents from Moscow.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Suffering

Thousands who have itching, bleeding or protruding piles have not yet learned that quick and lasting relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor suppositories remove the cause.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The hemorrhoidal veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To get rid of Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, drive out the thick, impure blood, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonard, after years of study, found a real internal Pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1,000 patients with success in over 900 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer, no matter how stubborn their case, might try his prescription with a money-back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores and all good druggists invite you to try HEM-ROID tablets with guarantee of money refunded if they do not end your Pile misery. (Advt.)

Portia Club Arranges Picturesque Contest

First-Year High School Girls Win Prize With Table Decorated in English Gipsy Scene—Other Tables Also Charming

With a table picturesquely decorated to represent English gipsies, four first-year high school girls yesterday carried off the first prize in a decorated tables contest held in connection with the annual silver sea of the Portia Club.

Designed as a Halloween celebration, with the characteristic orange and black predominating in the color scheme, the occasion attracted fully 250 guests, who remained after tea to witness the presentation of prizes by Mrs. S. J. Willis.

Competitors were given three-quarters of an hour to arrange their tables, the contest beginning promptly at 3 o'clock. When guests arrived shortly before 4 o'clock, they found attractively decorated tables in charge of groups of girls dressed in costumes of various nations—Scotland, Sweden, Ireland, China and Bohemia being particularly outstanding. There was also a group representing the League of Nations, and a few other tables elected to represent comic or genre subjects.

The winning table, which was the handiwork of Peggy Mulliner, Barbara Winslow, "Bunny" Maynard and Helen Gilliland, carried off the English gipsy theme with a representation of gipsy caravan and characteristic pastoral setting, including trees and sheep. The place cards were in keeping, being autumn leaves.

SWEDISH THEME
The table winning the second prize used a Swedish theme, and among the vintages were some characteristic Swedish dainties. The girls in charge of this table were Ann-Mari Bjornafelt, Mona Humphries, Helen Stevens and Doreen Palmer.

At other tables were seen two Chinese girls, May and Mary Lore, in strictly correct Chinese national costume, and Barbara Mills and Lilian Grant in Highland dress. The adjudicators were Mrs. S. J. Willis, Miss Adele Macleod and Mr. Harry Dee. In presenting the prizes Mrs. Willis warmly commended the contestants on the keen interest and artistic feeling shown.

WARD LIBERALS ELECT OFFICERSJ. A. Corbett Chosen President of Saanchi Ass'n—Norman W.
Whittaker Gives Address

J. A. Corbett was elected president of the Saanchi Ward Two Liberal Association at the annual meeting held in St. Mark's Hall last night. E. E. Bell, retiring president, was named vice-president, and J. Williams, secretary-treasurer. Following were elected to the executive: Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Bell, A. Braidwood, Mr. McGregor, G. Wells and A. W. Carveth.

Reports of the past year's work were submitted by Mr. Bell and the secretary-treasurer, which indicated the association had experienced a fairly active period.

Norman W. Whittaker, Liberal candidate for Saanchi, addressed the meeting on a final appeal, stressing the points of policy adopted and urging wholehearted support of the party's candidates at the forthcoming provincial election.

H. L. Briggs, president of the Central Saanchi body, also spoke, dealing chiefly with the necessity for organization among the members of the party.

TWO KINDS OF COUGH
Just as a headache may be due to any one of a number of causes, so also a cough may be a symptom of a number of ailments.

As you know, you cough because it seems to ease you or give some relief. If you try you may often prevent a cough showing that to some extent, or in some cases at least, coughing is under the control of the will.

Although the majority of coughs are due to some irritation of the lining or mucous membrane of the throat there are coughs due to irritation of the pleura or covering of the lung, to irritation of the canal leading to outer ear, to irritation of the sort of large vessel into which the heart pumps the blood to be distributed all over the body, and also other causes.

Now as the cough is due to some irritation it would seem the right thing to permit the cough to rid the part of the irritation just as a sneeze gets rid of an irritation in the nose, and a diarrhoea gets rid of some offending matter in the large intestine.

Coughs are divided into two classes, those that are trying to rid the throat and chest of some mucous obstruction by expectorating (spitting) and those that are just irritating and have no useful purpose.

Thus, as Dr. Stuart Pritchard, Battle Creek, points out, the expectorant cough has a purpose and should be aided. The irritant cough serves no good purpose and should be stopped or suppressed.

"Both types of cough have their characteristic sounds, and both may occur in the same patient. The sounds of an expectorant cough are always like all together, and once begun this cough can be checked only with difficulty until it ends with the usual characteristic sound of the expectoration coming up from the lower part of the throat.

The sounds of an irritant cough, on the other hand, are independent and may be likened to separate blows of a hammer. The irritant cough not only fails to serve any

Practising for Wall Game

Eton College boys are shown practising at Eton for the Wall Game, which takes place on St. Andrew's Day, November 30. This is one game which is peculiar to Eton College and it is only played during the Winter months. The idea is the wall acts as one goal and a tree, the other. Players wear special padded headgear and then proceed to push the wall over—or at least try.

useful purpose, but if unchecked may be dangerous. The ill effects of unchecked severe irritant coughing may cause complications in early stages of influenza, spread infection to the pleural coverings of the lungs in pneumonia, aggravate pain, loss of sleep, and interfere with the heart's action.

The thought, then, is that with any severe cough the family physician should be consulted so that the cough may be aided or stopped, according to its cause.

If October 28 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. and from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Influences will hold sway on October 28 that will tend to bring about a general speeding up of all activities. This day is one on which to remember the old adage that "haste makes waste." Remember that there are other days coming and don't seek to accomplish things with a rush. This seems a good rule to follow in business, social and love affairs. Be on your guard against casual acquaintances made this day.

The child born on this October 28 will have better than the average mentality, but will probably be mentally lazy. He will not take great interest in his school work. In all probability he will develop some childlike hobby and will devote a great deal of time and thought to it, assuming that such hobby is along some worthwhile line, it may well lead him into his life's work.

Born on October 28, you are among those fortunate people who in the course of a lifetime will make a great deal of money. Your wisdom is at its height when it comes to the making of money; unfortunately, you do not know how to spend it. You are much inclined to splurge, to make a big show, and are more than satisfied to have someone pat you on the shoulder and say, "My, what a prince of a fellow!" You are so socially ambitious and make it a point at any gathering to meet and be seen with the so-called "best people."

You probably have many friends, for you are a happy and cheerful disposition. You take life lightly, you don't worry, and if things look bad and gloomy today, you are confident that there will be an upward swing tomorrow. For you, there usually is. Money comes so easily into your hands that you are inclined to treat it carelessly. You are tempted to be negligent about meeting your obligations, whether they be social or financial.

You derive great pleasure from your home, your family and from the few friends that you accept as intimates. No doubt you have one or more hobbies, possibly of an unusual sort. You are a good husband and a wife, a kindly parent and an amiable friend and companion.

LAD AT REST

Interment was made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Suggestions for Hallowe'en Party

Pretty Hostess Decorates for Hallowe'en Party

If you are giving a party for grown-ups this Hallowe'en you can make it just as scary as you desire, unless the guests are an unusual group. The witches and the hobgoblins, which are supposed to be riding abroad on mischief bent, may whisper in your ear all sorts of blood-curdling and ingenious things to make strong men shudder and fragile women shriek.

If your guests are children, however, leave out all the frightening part and make it as pretty a golden party as pumpkins, purple grapes, rosy apples, popcorn and jolly games can do.

Mothers and fathers can do so much to minimize the mischief their home fills get into by providing wholesome fun and inviting in the neighbors' children to share it.

For the strictly adult party here are a few shivery pranks to play on your guests:

Receive them in a darkened room, standing on a stool so as to look unnaturally tall, and draped from head to foot in dark stuff. If possible, wear a skeleton mask and speak in a hollow voice.

The hand with which you greet your guest will give him or her a thrill if it is encased in a rubber glove which contains crushed ice or is dipped in ice water.

Playing the game of black cat may be the outstanding event of the evening. Seat your friends in a circle, extinguish the lights and announce that the witch's cat has been captured and dissected and its mystery will now be revealed.

Pass from hand to hand first a marble, purporting to be its eye; a bit of plush or fur for the ear; some horsehair—if you can get hold of some—for the whiskers; a piece of rubber sponge, etc. Go as far as you like. The thrill of the game will come when a hysterical guest hands to his neighbor what he afterwards finds to be a wet shrimp or a wad of cooked macaroni. Imagination and darkness can do a great deal, especially on Hallowe'en.

Decorations may be obtained for a small sum from the shops that deal in such trifles. The pumpkin head may be a paper affair or a really, truly pumpkin with a paper fool's cap.

Paper nose makers are laid across at the foot of the pumpkin

OLD WRECK TO BE SALVED

After lying at the bottom of Table Bay, Africa, for 25 years, the East India trading ship Haarlem is to be salvaged. It is believed to contain ivory, silver bars and Chinese porcelain. The Haarlem was wrecked in 1807. For the first time in salvage operations, it is believed, a dredger will be used for the wreck lies so deep in sand that divers cannot get at it. The harbor suction dredger will first clear the ground. After that there should be little difficulty, declares G. Austin, in charge of the operations, because the hulk lies only a dozen feet below the surface. Work will be started at once.

STATION L-O-V-E BY CRAIG CARROLL

SYNOPSIS

When Judy Anderson had been in Chicago for six months without finding work her father wired her that he would send no more money and that she was to return to his wife's home in Nebraska. She was despondent at her failure and what her father would mean to her. She went to the rooming house where she lived. Richard Mason, chief radio announcer at WACA, lived at the same house. He was seated at Judy's table by Mrs. Malone, the kindly matchmaking seamstress proprietor. Dick asked her to pass the sugar and in her nervous condition, the bowl slipped from her fingers. Her "I'm nervous—I'm sorry" led to conversation and explanations and impulsively Judy showed Dick her father's telegram. When she told him she was going home next day, he said she should not give up. Judy said she was an orphan and there were no jobs for orphans. Dick was impressed by the quality of her voice and her personality and persuaded her to try next day for a talking position on the new Beauty Builder programme at his studio. There were fifteen other applicants, among them Lena Burdette, tall, dark, well dressed and good looking, who stared intently at Judy. Judy was called to the microphone first.

CHAPTER II

Judy rose. She knew what a microphone was, of course. And in the middle of the studio hung a round, black thing, suspended from cords. The eyes of the other girls stared toward this, stood in the centre of the enormous room. She felt like the last woman in the world. The eyes of the other girls burned in her back. She held the paper, stepped a little to one side, stared at the round black microphone, wondered, waited.

"Go on!" the round man said. His voice echoed up and down the walls of the big room. "Go on, Allison!"

She started at the paper. "Good morning," she said. "This is the Beauty Builder speaking. Every morning at this same hour I bring you the newest facts about the newest fashions in hats, in dresses, in shoes, in cosmetics—all to help you. And every morning—"

The words faded out before her eyes. Past the microphone, back of the glass panel at the end of the room, she saw Dick Mason. He was leaning forward, almost touching the glass. He was waving one hand.

He meant "Read it. Go to it! Start! Show 'em!" He meant all he said in that brief talk last night. He meant "Get the job, girl. Get the job!"

She glared at the microphone. Afraid of that?

She turned a little on one heel. She glared at the other girls. Afraid of them?

She threw back her shoulders, put her head back.

"Good morning," she said, and the words sounded strangely flat and muffled to her. "This is—the Beauty Builder. Every day—I mean every morning at this same hour I bring you the newest facts about the newest fashions in hats, in dresses, in shoes, in cosmetics—all to help you. And every morning—"

The round man was tugging at her shoulder. He was scowling, contemptuous, sneering.

"That's enough! Go back and sit down! Go back! Go on! You're next! Snap into it!" He shoved Judy lightly. "Sit down, you!"

She stumbled across the room to the chair. Somehow she kept back the tears that fought to show in her eyes. Some one else's head up, she listened. She heard the blond girl's sure voice, and another, and another, and the round man say suddenly "That's all. You can all go. That's all."

The blond girl started to speak to the round man, stopped, grinned, walked out the door, confident as ever, sure as ever. The girl with the compact put more rouge on her lips, followed. And the others. Last of all, Judy, walking slowly. No confidence kept her shoulders square, no desperate gaiety made her smile. The tears were not in her eyes. She hadn't done anything. Couldn't even talk into a microphone. Couldn't even without mixing up the words. Couldn't.

"Judy! Oh—Judy!"

It couldn't be anybody calling her. Couldn't be. Couldn't be. If she didn't hurry, if she didn't get out of the building, if she didn't get to a corner, somewhere, anywhere, she'd cry so that everyone could see.

"Judy! Wait, Judy!"

She turned. Dick Mason came running toward her down the hall, smiling.

"Judy," he said again, "you're swell!"

He seized both her hands. Her pocketbook dropped, but she didn't move to pick it up, for Dick was telling her, breathlessly, chuckling between the words, "You got it! I knew you could do it! You got it!"

She managed finally to gasp, "Get it? But—I didn't get it! I read all of it. And the other—the blond—"

Dick laughed at her. He was tall, and he had a dimple, just as she had remembered. He had brown hair, very smooth. She hadn't noticed it before, but he was handsome. She heard Dick say, "That was just the regular stuff. They liked your voice the minute they heard you. So you start Monday. For a week, three mornings a week. And that's not all. They're going to use your real name, Judy. Miss Judy Allison. The Beauty Builder! Think of that!"

Her name on the air? Her real name spoken so that thousands of people would know Judy Allison? She couldn't let that happen. No. But—but Dick didn't know anything about her and yet he'd got the job for her, he'd helped so much.

"Come on, Judy. You're having breakfast with me!"

Still breathless, still unbelieving, Judy followed Dick along the hall.

They sat a long time over their coffee and toast and marmalade, and in that time Judy learned a great deal about Dick Mason.

That he was twenty-six, which seemed very old indeed; for Judy was "just past" twenty. That he earned $85 a week "just talking"; that he had been an announcer for two years. That he started out to be an actor—"But I was a rotten actor"; that, really, he finished college with the intention of being an engineer—"but I couldn't make a single column." Figures come out straight; that he thought radio announcers were funny.

"Very, very, very funny," he said seriously. "Taking themselves seriously. Dressing up in dinner coats at 5:45 sharp—just to talk into a mike. Growing their hair long and getting arty and saying 'I' for an hour at a time—and—Oh!"

He pointed.

"Amos 'n Andy," Dick said. "First time I've seen them here in months."

"Amos 'n Andy."

Judy looked for a couple of men in blackface. She saw, instead, two smooth-faced, casual, well-dressed gentlemen, taking their time about ordering, plunging suddenly into close conversation. They weren't laughing. Whatever they were saying, it was plain that neither was being funny.

"I thought—I mean—" "I know," Dick Mason chuckled. A very nice chuckle, Judy thought. "Funny, the ideas you get about radio people just hearing them. Why, there's a nice lady in Canada who sends me neckties and pyjamas just because my voice sounds like her son's voice. He never came back from the war and she still insists I must be her lost son. And there's go to Lee Sims and his wife, Thomas Bailey, the singer. And there's Ted Pearson, the announcer. And—two of the Three Doctors, Pratt and Sherman."

Dick became a walking encyclopedia of names, of descriptions. And Judy's head whirled. So many people! Names you read in the papers, names you heard spoken over the air with unctious by announcers who wondered about, voices you heard and liked, or didn't like; famous people just walking in and asking for cheese toast and orange juice, or pancakes and sausage; and not at all unusual, some of them not even well dressed.

The girl with the wildly-tinted hair and shabby imitation-seal coat, Dick said, earned $500 a week; "she puts it all in the bank; she was almost starving until radio came along, trying to be a singer; she wasn't good in a concert hall or on the stage, but on the air her voice vibrations are just right and all the fans think she's marvelous; radio's like that." The others—"Hello, Dick!" Judy jumped. She'd been so interested in Dick Mason, listening to the smooth, regular procession of words, she had forgotten that anybody else might talk, might come to the table that already she thought of as her's and Dick's.

"Hello, Elton."

Dick said it rather slowly, not quite happily.

"Introduce me, boy. Introduce me!"

Judy looked up at the intruder. He was very well dressed. Curly light hair and dark eyes. An unusual combination. A pale yellow tie and a brown sport suit and a white shirt with long points on the collar.

"Judy—Miss Allison—This is Elton Day."

"How do you do?" Judy said coolly. Then in spite of herself she gasped. With no more words, without waiting for any invitation, the newcomer sat down, leaned forward, stared directly at her. A waiter approached. "Coffee, Black," Day said, without looking up. "Hurry, I have to be at my office in a minute."

Then to Judy, "I haven't seen you around here before."

"Miss Allison just came down from an audition," Dick said, still with a faint edge in his voice. Judy could see that he was smiling politely enough, that he seemed to know this man well; but she knew he was resenting the intrusion. In spite of herself—being a woman—that pleased her. Having known Dick Mason such a little while it was nice to think that he wanted to be alone with her, that he wanted no other man to talk to her.

"Oh; you're going to be with us, then?" Day asked Judy.

"I—really, I don't know."

"Sigh, no; talk." She laughed a little. "That is, I guess I'm to talk. Mr. Mason got me a tryout and I thought I didn't have a chance. I've never done anything like this before. But Mr. Mason says they liked my voice. They're going to let me do the programme. A while, at least."

"That's fine. And it's mighty kind of Dick to help you. Yes, sir, Dick—mighty kind."

Dick said nothing. And Elton Day continued to stare at Judy, not unpleasantly at all. Judy supposed she should look away, should chill Elton Day. But she knew the chill would be a hard job. There was a faint twist at the corner of his mouth, there was a keen light in his eyes, as though he were laughing at her; laughing at himself, and at Dick, and at everything. Judy felt suddenly that trouble lay straight ahead.

WOUNDED GUIDE IS RESOURCEFUL

Uses Belt as Tourniquet and Then Hobbles Three Miles to Village

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 27 (AP).—Wounded and alone in the woods following accidental discharge of his gun, Richard Dalton cheated death by using his belt as a tourniquet. Then he hobbled three miles to his home at Gooseberry Cove, hauled a truck driver and made a hurried trip to Placentia, where a doctor treated him and sent him on to St. John's. He is recovering now in the General Hospital, and doctors say he will be back in the woods soon, keen as ever for the hunt. For Richard Dalton is a guide, known as one of the most resourceful in the Placentia Bay district, and Dr. A. Tait, who met him on his arrival here, has followed him through the woods more than once.

Dalton's gun exploded when he fell in the woods. The shot tore one of his legs above the knee and the wound bled profusely. Recovering from the shock, he tried to stop the flow of blood by using his shirt as a bandage. That failing, he doffed his trousers, but they also were inadequate.

GIVE ATHLETES HEADQUARTERS

Ladysmith Council Grants Use of Building—Bonfires for Hallowe'en

LADYSMITH, Oct. 27.—A delegation from the Ladysmith Athletic Association waited on the council at the regular session this evening, to request the use of part of the lapsed Mutual Trading premises on Gatacre Street, as a general indoor sports headquarters.

Messrs. T. Byatt and T. Spargo outlined the hopes of the new association, and after a brief discussion, the council granted the use of the premises, with the proviso that volunteer labor from the members of the association be used to repair the building where necessary.

Before leaving the council chamber, Constable Byatt asked the council to sponsor an appeal for cast-off clothing and shoes. He said he would only be too pleased to handle the distribution to the needy cases in the city and district. The council will issue an appeal through the press to this effect.

NO INFORMATION

In answer to a communication from the Board of Trade it was announced the council had no information concerning the rumored consolidated school proposal for this district.

The local unit of the Army and Navy Veterans invited the council to participate in the Remembrance Day ceremony, and the invitation was accepted. A wreath from the city will be placed at the cenotaph.

The finance committee, in presenting a statement on city finances, recommended that all departments curtail expenditures and observe the strictest economy for the rest of the year. The statement was not detailed and the recommendation was received and filed without comment.

A committee from the council will organize the usual bonfire for the children, on a bigger and better scale, in Market Square on Hallowe'en, and in addition there will be a series of smaller fires around the central blaze, where the children can indulge safely in the time-honored juvenile custom of roasting potatoes.

Adjournment followed a long discussion of the advisability of purchasing a stand-by boiler as an emergency measure at the city power plant, but no action was taken on the theme, when the chairman of the finance committee introduced the subject of cost.

BOY SCOUTS MEET

LAKE COWICHAN, Oct. 27.—Commissioner Ravenhill, of Victoria, invited all those interested in scouting to a meeting to reorganize the Cowichan Lake Troop, and to nominate a scoutmaster; but the meeting on Wednesday was unable to make any final decision owing to the poor attendance.

BONERS

are actual humorous tid-bits found in examination papers, essays, etc., by teachers.

Hacebones are very pretty animals, but they are very bad for a kind because some race too fast and some race too slow.

If God had not told the ravens to take the bread and meat to Elijah they would have eaten it themselves, for ravens are notoriously ravenous. In fact, that is how the word originated.

The first born were one of the worst plagues, but the manna made things much better.

A bolt is a thing like a stick of hard metal, such as iron, with a square bunch on one end and a lot of scratching would round the other end. A nut is similar to a bolt, only just the opposite, being a hole in a little chunk of iron sawed off short, with wrinkles around the inside of the hole.

In the construction of matter the molecules are so minute that even under the strongest periscope they would not be discernible.

We climbed the hill without boiling the engine.

Instruments that you hit, like drums and triangles, are called percussion.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE FOR BREAKING GLASS

NANAIMO, Oct. 27.—James Hannay, one of the city unemployed, appeared in police court this morning charged with breaking windows at the City Hall yesterday and was let out on suspended sentence and ordered to pay the cost of the windows, some $2.50.

Hannay broke the windows in the hall as a protest against his water rates, $1.50, being deducted from his relief cheque.

JUVENILES GIVE MUSICAL TREAT

NANAIMO, Oct. 27.—Pygmy Pavilion was packed to capacity last evening to hear a real musical treat supplied by Ernie Mallin's boy and girl Kiwanis Juvenile Orchestra. Both classical and popular numbers were rendered by the orchestra during the evening.

Maurice Corkill, president of the Nanaimo Kiwanis Club, opened the programme with a brief outline of the organization of the orchestra, and extended a few words of welcome to the audience.

Assisting artists were: Nanaimo String Quartette, Kiwanis Choir, Mrs. W. P. McDonald, Mrs. C. D. Roberts, Jack Clements, Jim Galloway, song; Mrs. J. Leslie Reynolds, elocution; and tap dancing by the Misses Eileen and Dorothy Wood.

From the opening of the programme with "O Canada" to the final notes of the national anthem, every moment was delightful as the applause of the packed house showed.

LOGGING OPERATIONS START AT COWICHAN

TELLS OF LIFE IN WEST INDIES

Major M. Kirkpatrick Crockett Gives Interesting Address Before Rotary Club

Members of the Rotary Club were yesterday given interesting information relative to the British West Indies by Major M. Kirkpatrick Crockett, who commanded an artillery contingent there. In introducing the subject, the speaker remarked, upon the lack of information which various parts of the British Empire seemed to have with regard to many of the other parts of it. This had been true in his own case, he said, with regard to the West Indies, until he had gone there on service.

The lecture was largely informative as to the products of Jamaica and other islands belonging to the Empire located in the West Indies. The address was illustrated with pictures taken by the speaker while he was resident there.

Included among the views were scenes from the coffee plantations and from the sugar growing and production. St. Lucia, which had been fought for between the British and the French over a long term of years, was included among the pictures which were displayed.

The coaling of ships by women, who carried the coal baskets on their heads in doing this work, was shown in the group of scenes. The speaker told of the good offices of the British in draining off the pools, thus cutting down the danger from fever which had prevailed before this was done.

COALING OF SHIPS

The flying fish found in the waters off the islands were described as excellent food. The formation of the islands, which sweep round in a semi-circle, consisted of a series of mountain tops with the lower lands between these submerged. There were many interesting features connected with life on the islands said the speaker.

"MAGIC NIGHT" IS BRITISH FEATURE

Jack Buchanan Stars With Anna Neagle, New English "Find," in Empire Picture

"Magic Night," latest starring vehicle of Jack Buchanan, will be seen at the Empire Theatre today, and thus the international star will be seen upon the screen for the first time since "Monte Carlo," the Ernst Lubitsch effort.

This picture is the first of three which the comedian will make this year, and if this initial effort may be taken as a criterion, Jack Buchanan's name is destined to be one of the greatest in the cinema. Moviegoers will remember Buchanan for his inimitable work in "Monte Carlo," and also in "Paris" with Irene Bordoni and "The Show of Shows," of recent memory. But it is the stage lovers who will flock to see him, principally for the remembrance of him in the two Charles Revere, "Battling Butler" and the recent "Wake Up and Dream."

"Magic Night" will introduce England's new reigning cinema queen—Anna Neagle. This young woman has hit genuine heights in Europe, and her charm is confidently expected to make her captivity of movie audiences worldwide when "Magic Night" is released throughout Canada and America.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
Better Speed Against the Wind—Paradoxical as it may seem a huge ocean liner actually makes faster speed heading into a strong wind than if the wind is with the vessel because of the "slippage" of the waves. When the wind is with the ship the crests of the waves fall forward and the body of the waves slip back, with a tendency to drag the ship with them. But when the wind is against the vessel the waves-crests fall forward into the bow of the ship, the body of the waves recedes in the direction in which the ship is travelling, increasing its speed. With the speed of the motors constant, the "slippage" overcomes the increased wind resistance.

A Geographical Paradox—Gibson Station, a little settlement in the extreme southwest corner of Virginia, is actually closer to the capitals of Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee, than it is to Richmond, the Capital of its own State.

N.Y. RANGERS NOT SELLING STAR CENTRE

President Denies Report of F. Boucher Being Put on Block

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (CP).—Emphatic denial that Frankie Roucher, incomparable play-making centre, was on the block, was given today by Colonel John S.

Hammond, president of the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League.

Colonel Hammond issued a statement in which it was admitted the Ottawa Senators had made offers for Boucher's services. The first came from the irrepressible Tommy Gorman and was a fair one and was given serious consideration. However, the statement said, the offer was contingent upon Gorman obtaining control of the Ottawa club. With his failure to do so the negotiations terminated.

Frank Ahearn, president of the reorganized Senator Club, has made no cash offer. He has offered players, but this was definitely refused, Colonel Hammond said.

He admitted the club was having salary differences with the smooth-playing centre, but declared the Ranger management had no control over the situation as they must abide by the league decision to hold clubs to salary lists of $10,000. Boucher suffered a 10 per cent cut, but according to Colonel Hammond, is still one of the highest paid in the league.

MIDGET WOLGAST LOSES TO TOMMY

OAKLAND, Oct. 27. — Young Tommy, flashy Manila bantam-weight, hammered his way to a ten-round decision over "Midget" Wolgast, Philadelphia, here last night to square matters for a decision he lost to his opponent several months ago in the same ring.

The Philadelphia appeared to have an edge in five of the rounds, but Tommy's whirlwind finish in the final session caught the eye of Referee Benny Wagner.

Wolgast was badly cut up as the final going rang. The Filipino weighed 116-14 pounds and his opponent 115-12.

Italy's first skyscraper, fifteen stories tall, will be erected in Turin.

A Kennel Club Champion

WHATEVER doubt one may have of the championship calibre of Countess Howe (above), will be dispelled when told that this dog ran home with a bagful of trophies at the British Kennel Club's seventy-first exhibition of sporting dogs. He won first prize and champion and best of breed, the Lonsdale Challenge Cup, the Kennel Club's Champion Trophy for the best sporting dog, the Kennel Club's Champion Challenge Cup, the Ch. Choonan Brilliantine Cup and the Send Vase for best gun-dog.

COLLEGE SQUAD DEFEATS HIGH

Craigdarroch Fifteen Blanks Victoria Lads in Pre-Season Rugby Match, 9-0

With Ken Luttrell, flashy centre three-quarter, scoring two tries, Victoria College defeated Victoria High School by a score of 9-0 at the latter's ground on Wednesday afternoon. The College was considerably heavier than the School, but the boys played a good game and had a large share of the play.

The first try came early in the game, when Ken Luttrell scored the ball from a five-yard scrum and beat three men to go over near the corner flag. The School pressed, and a good three-quarter movement was stopped when Surphila was forced into touch near the College goal line. The half ended without further score.

All the College three handled the ball in scoring the second try, Ken Luttrell again crossing the line. The final score came late in the game, when Ronnie Upward scored from a scrum near the School goal line. None of the tries were converted.

Muzz Patrick refereed and the teams were:

College—Lowe, McKenzie, Ward, Luttrell, Thorne, Coventry, Ferguson, Upward, Sangster, Andrews, Grey, Beckett, Ward, Stevens, Banks and Stewart.

High School—Shepherd, Parfitt, Price, Surphila, Cox, Halkett, Ritchie, Doherty, Hobson, Ross, O'Kell, Rowlands, Guelpa, Crump and Taylor.

CANADIAN DOLLAR AND POUND RATES

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (CP).—British currencies rallied in early trading on local foreign exchanges today, but were unable to hold all of their recoveries and slipped back at the close. The pound sterling closed 1-4 cent weaker at $2.27 3-4 for cables, and the Canadian dollar ended the day 1-16 cent lower at 90 1-8 cents.

The Japanese yen broke to a new historic low of 21 3-4 cents for cables, and Far Eastern observers said it could be attributed to the recent slump of sterling.

Sterling opened at $2.29 1-16, eased at noon to $2.28, sold for $2.27 3-4 in mid-afternoon, and closed at that figure.

The dollar opened at 90 7-8 cents, eased to 90 3-8 at noon, sold for 90 1-8 in mid-afternoon, and ended the day at that price.

MONTREAL, Oct. 27 (CP).—Continued strength in United States funds and a small advance in sterling marked foreign exchange transactions in Montreal today. The dollar advanced 3-8 to 75-78, while the pound closed at $2.26 3-4.

Locals to Field Strong Side for Final Attraction

Expect to Conclude Schedule in Big Four Canadian Rugby League With Win Over New Westminster at Local Enclosure—Interference Play of Visitors to Be Featured

Running interference as it is done in the powerful Eastern teams will be displayed to Victorians tomorrow afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park, at 3 o'clock, when the New Westminster Dodekas grid squad clashes with Victoria Capitals in the final game of the Canadian Rugby season on local grounds in the Big Four League. The Royal City griders are in a class by themselves when it comes to paving the way for the player with the pigskin. They are masters at this play and a good turnout is expected to see the visitors displaying their wares in their final exhibition.

Callahan, Stagg and Rich are the trio who do most of the executing of this interference play for New Westminster. The former and latter run most of the interference for the Dodekas, while Stagg does the ball carrying. They have worked this play down to perfection and have gained the name of the "Big Three" in the league. When New Westminster smashed their way to a thrilling 10-7 victory over V.A.C. three weeks ago, it was Callahan, Stagg and Rich who engineered most of the plays, with Henderson doing the scoring.

AFTER VICTORY
Manager Benny McMillen and Coach Doug Roberts lost their chance of keeping the locals in the running by losing to Meralomas, but they are bent on terminating their league schedule with a victory over the Dodekas. The Victoria squad will be formidable and will go on the field in fine condition. The team is practising each evening for an hour. Muzz Patrick, Bunny Cox and Bert Buller are unable to work out owing to slight injuries from last week's game, but will be ready to start against New Westminster. The line-up, as announced yesterday, will be as follows: Roddy Innes, left end; Bunny Cox, left tackle; Bob Engleson, left guard; John Plant, centre; Bert Buller, right guard; Ian Acland, right tackle; Lynn Patrick, right end; Sandy Smith, fullback; Bill Lemm, flying wing; Ted Colgate, half-back; Frank Gribble, half-back; Wally Stille, half-back. Hadden, Bruce Forbes, Billingsley, Hall, Stagg and Rasmussen will see action as substitutes.

TRIO OF STARS
Callahan is a fine player to watch in action. He picked up the game quickly after coming across the border, having had experience playing left end for Gonzaga University, while Rich is a former Seattle High School star and is well schooled in the Canadian code. That's the chief reason it is pretty to watch these two lads running interference. Pete Stagg, who is better known in Vancouver baseball circles, started in Bellingham several years ago and was one of the shining lights of the powerful West Seattle club before coming to Vancouver.

The remainder of the visiting squad follows: K. McDonald, Parks, Lillo, J. McDonald, Hale, Bourne, M. McDonald, Davy, Henderson, Trassolini, Curtis, Ward, Stevens, Richards, McQuarrie, Robson, Desbray, Lewis and R. Thill. This squad will have a decided weight advantage over the Capitals.

TO ALL MERCHANTS MANUFACTURERS AND BANKERS . . . .

This is the way to BETTER BUSINESS

"Before there is any great upturn in volume of sales for manufacturers of trade-marked merchandise, there must inevitably be a great upturn in advertising volume.

"Because, merchandising embraces every marketing process involved in getting a commodity from the factory to the consumer. Not merely from the factory to the salesman. Not from the salesman to the wholesaler. Nor from the wholesaler to the retailer. But all the way from the factory to the consumer. Including all the in-between stopping-places.

"Merchandising is complete trade. Goods fully sold. Commodities taken to their cash-yielding terminal. When this last step rounds out the procedure... when the ultimate user's cash flows back through the channels of trade... and the way is opened for repeat sales... then we have Business."★

HERE WE HAVE THE ECONOMIC BASIS OF ADVERTISING

For if we agree that merchandising requires this completion of selling, so that goods go into use and are used up, then we establish the place of advertising as a business essential. Advertising holds its position because it simplifies dealing with the public—as to effort, time and cost. It is an intrinsic part of selling at that last step which actually moves the goods into consumers' hands.

Advertising in the Daily Newspapers—if it is geared by intelligent and trained men to do its necessary share in the job of selling—is an unchanging dominant power—the most rapid, direct, simple and economic contact with Canadian consumers.

Japanese Organize To Take Advantage Of New Vessel Act

Society Will Be Responsible for the Scrapping of Old Hulls and the Construction of Better Ships

The Ship Quality Improvement Society has been organized by Japanese shipowners and shipbuilders under the auspices of the Ministry of Communications, and will be responsible for the construction of better ships and the scrapping of old ships in accordance with the bill adopted at the last session of the Japanese Diet. This society is to represent the shipowners and shipbuilders who are taking advantage of the new law and also will act as an advisory board to the Ministry of Communications.

Tajiro Kawamura, managing director of the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha, has been recommended as director-in-chief of the institute, and Shirojiro, president of the Kokusai Kaisha, and Dr. Junichiro Inakura, president of the Osaka Dockyard Company, will be directors. The control committee is to consist of representatives of leaders among the shippers and shipbuilders. Three auditors have also been appointed.

APPOINTED TO POSTS
The Ministry of Communications is to name Atsumu Shigemitsu, who is in charge of the shipping department of Mitsui Bussan Kaisha, Takeshi Ono and Shozo Okano to the control committee. The last two have posts in the ministry. Yatsuo Hatano, of the Tokyo Communications Bureau, and Kunisuke Nakamura, secretary of the Ship Control Bureau, will resign and be appointed managing-director and chief secretary, respectively.

Regulations implementing the ship quality improvement legislation will be issued shortly, it is stated. According to Mr. Shigemitsu, ships eligible to Government subsidies are likely to be limited to those whose keels are laid after October 1, of this year. These must be of more than 4,000 tons gross and have speeds greater than fourteen knots an hour. Subsidies will not be given to ships covered by insurance already or to those to be operated on subsidized lines. Ships registered in the Kwangtung Leased Territory may be included among those to be scrapped, but no subsidies will be given for vessels to be registered there on completion. The principle

LINER LATE IN DOCKING

Ruth Delayed by Storms—Kingsley Calling Today—Lillopet Coaled Here

Delayed several hours by storms off the coast, the Pacific Steamship Lines Ss. Ruth Alexander docked at Rithet Piers from California ports. The ship brought passengers and freight for Victoria, the travelers remaining aboard until 6 o'clock this morning, when they were to disembark. The Ruth Alexander was to proceed to Seattle at 7 o'clock.

From Seattle, with a cargo of gasoline for local consignees, the tanker Aleutian Native docked at the Chemical wharf shortly before midnight yesterday. The Aleutian Native was to get away at 9 o'clock this morning.

To load lumber for the United Kingdom, the freighter Benelux docked at Ogden Point Piers at 9 o'clock last night. The Koryu Maru is due at the same docks this morning to load for Australia.

Bound for California ports, the Kingsley Navigation Company's freighter, Ss. Kingsley, will be here for a short time today, taking aboard cargo for San Francisco.

The freighter Harpoon arrived at James Island yesterday, and discharged nitrate from Atlantic Coast ports.

Calling here for coal yesterday, the survey ship Lillopet was to have sailed last night for Clayoquot Sound, where she will be for several days, finishing up some work before returning here and laying up for the winter months.

LAUNCH'S CREW REPORTED SAFE

Whereabouts Not Revealed—Adanesne Was Built and Owned in Canada

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27 (CP).—Four Vancouver and New Westminster men, unheard from since their last fifty-seven-foot seagoing launch, Adanesne, was found ashore on the San Mateo coast of California on Monday, are safe and unharmed, according to a message received here today, by a relative of one of the men. Just what happened to the Adanesne, or the whereabouts of the men, was not revealed.

The men are: Captain Dan Beckie, twenty-seven, master; William Petersen, twenty-five, Vancouver; James Howard, Vancouver; chief engineer, and J. P. Martin, twenty-three, New Westminster, assistant engineer.

The Adanesne sailed from here last July for Ensenada, Mexico. She was built here at a cost of $20,000, and was equipped with a speed of thirty knots. When found ashore Monday, the craft had a half-eaten meal on the cabin table and clothing was lying about.

Various presumptions were that the boat might have been hijacked; that she might have slipped her painter while moored to another ship, or have hit a rock and been abandoned.

URGES PURCHASE OF LOAN ISSUE

C.P.R. President Says Wealth of Canada Not Lessened by Economic Events

MONTREAL, Oct. 27 (CP).—The wealth of Canada has been in no way lessened by economic events of the past two years, E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said today in recommending purchase of the new $80,000,000 Dominion of Canada loan, which goes on sale next Monday. In a time of economic uncertainty, he said, the loan should have a strong appeal to those seeking investments.

Mr. Beatty's statement follows: "There is every reason why the Government's recently announced $80,000,000 bond issue should be an unqualified success. As a sound investment of the most satisfactory sort, it should make a strong appeal to the Canadian people."

"Behind the issue stands the solid wealth of this country, and that wealth has in no way been lessened by economic events of the past two years."

"Having in view recent strengthening of bond values generally, the proposed interest rate is satisfactory, and as conditions improve, it is likely to become relatively more so."

"Canadian credit stands well in comparison to that of most other countries, and the successful distribution of these bonds will still further strengthen the country's credit abroad."

WAYS TO TRAP SMUGGLERS

Invisible rays are employed in a trap being set up by German officials on the western frontier in their warfare against the army of 70,000 smugglers who have organized a perfect information service.

The trap is a mile long and alarm sounds if a person or car crosses the rays. This informs the officials immediately where to find the smugglers.

Salvaging Egypt's Silver

UNLOADING bars of silver from the salvage ship Artiglio II on her arrival at Plymouth, England, after a stormy voyage from the spot in the Bay of Biscay with silver valued at £70,000 from the sunken liner Egypt. The total salvaged now amounts to £720,000, leaving only £208,000 in gold and silver to be brought up. The salvagers have had a five-year battle on their hands to regain the valuable cargo which went down with the Ss. Egypt.

Eastern Longshore Workers Ask for Conciliation Board

SAINT JOHN, Oct. 27 (CP).—Unable to reach an agreement last week with local members of the Shipping Federation of Canada and with a cut in hourly wages to commence November 1, when the 1931 wage contract expires, the International Longshoremen's Association, including longshoremen, coal handlers and ship liners, is today applying to Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, for a conciliation board.

William L. Carlin, president of the longshoremen, said the Shipping Federation proposes to cut wages from seventy to sixty cents on general cargo and from eighty to seventy cents on bulk cargo as well as "to twist the working agreement out of shape."

MAY LOWER OWN RECORD

Canadian Agent of Lord Wakefield Says Campbell Has Faster Car

On one of his business trips to Western Canada, Captain C. D. Brown, of Montreal, general manager for Canada of the oil firm of C. C. Wakefield & Company, Limited, arrived in the city yesterday. Captain Brown takes a great interest in sport and is a personal friend of many who are making records on water, land and in the air in high-powered equipment.

He is a very close friend of Kaye Don and was present in Detroit when the latter had the misfortune which befell him when the engine of his power boat broke down. The engine, said Captain Brown, was one of the best type. In both races a rod broke, eliminating the chances of winning.

PRaises MOLLISON
Mollison, the Atlantic flyer, who married Amy Johnson, is another of Captain Brown's friends. The flight which he made across the Atlantic from England to Canada was, in the opinion of Captain Brown, a most remarkable one. Made in a Puss Moth machine of English build, a very light plane, the performance was all the more creditable.

Mr. Wakefield, the head of the firm represented by the visitor to Victoria, who is always ready to assist in good sportsmanship, is not favorable to these men taking too great risks. He used his influence to discourage the return trip being made by Mollison.

A Canadian-built plane of the same type was the one used by Sinker, the Australian, in flying across the Atlantic from South America to England.

SEEKS NEW RECORD

Captain Brown has had a letter from another speed-making friend of his, the famous Sir Malcolm Campbell, in which the latter says he will be coming to America in February, bringing his car for the purpose of seeking to lower his own record made at Daytona Beach speedway.

Sir Malcolm has changed the end of his race and has now one which is designed to develop a potential speed of 300 miles per hour. Captain Brown says that while it is not anticipated that this will be attained, Sir Malcolm expects to surpass his former record of 253.968.

SHIPBUILDER PASSES AWAY

James Firth Was Former Construction Superintendent for Union Co.

NORTH VANCOUVER, Oct. 27 (CP).—James Firth, aged eighty-two, one-time construction superintendent of Union Steamship Company here, died this morning at his home, Alder Street.

His career in shipbuilding was an interesting one. Union Steamship Company's Ss. Capilano and Ss. Coquille were "knockdown" vessels, which were brought to Vancouver in sections. To Mr. Firth was entrusted the task of reconstructing them.

He was also designing engineer for Ss. Couli, and superintended the conversion of Ss. Cassiar from a freight steamer to a passenger vessel. All of these ships are well remembered by old-timers.

Born at Harry, Orkney, the deceased came to Canada forty years ago. The early years of his life were spent in a large Glasgow shipyard where he gained a fine knowledge of the shipbuilders' craft.

Deny Report That Men Were Rescued When Dredge Sank

HARBOR BEACH, Mich., Oct. 27 (CP).—Officials of the Great Lakes Towing Company, owners of the dredge Hercules, denied this afternoon that anyone was aboard the dredge when it broke loose from a towing tug and sank off Oscoda yesterday. Previous reports were that five men were aboard the had been rescued by the tug Favorite.

The company stated this afternoon the Favorite was not involved with the dredge. The Favorite was towing a steel scow, which broke loose and was today recovered by the United States coastguard cutter No. 16 and brought to Harbor Beach.

Ports of Britain Still Handle Big Total of Tonnage

Ships Entering and Clearing in 1931 Aggregated 339,021,611 Net Registered Tons—Value of Imports and Exports £1,315,743,000

"Taking as his theme 'The Problem of Port Costs,' Sir David J. Owen, general manager of the Port of London Authority, delivered his inaugural address as president of the Institute of Transport on October 10. He was addressing representatives of every branch of transport. In part, he stated:

"The significance of a port from the point of view of transport lies simply in the fact that it is the junction between sea and land—in other words, point at which one form of transport is changed for another. On the sea we have virtually only one means of transport, the ship; on land, the continuance of the chain of transport may be by railway, road or inland waterway. Thus ports, while obviously of vital interest, are not matters of unimportance to railway companies, road hauliers and canal proprietors."

VAST TONNAGE

Stressing the importance of a maritime country like Great Britain, he said that in 1931 the volume of shipping—tonnage—entering and clearing the ports of the United Kingdom amounted to 339,021,611 net registered tons, of which nearly one-sixth used the Port of London. He next turned to the goods imported and exported at British ports, divulging the information that "last year the total value of the imports and exports of merchandise (other than transshipments under bond) from and to foreign countries and British possessions, was £1,315,743,000, of which London's share was more than one-third of the whole."

The factors which account for variation in cost between one port and another were dealt with. In a port used by large vessels, the depth of water in the channel leading to the port, the water at the dock, necessarily makes the costs higher than at a port frequented by small vessels, the cost of dredging and constructing docks being large items. The cost of a dock wall forty feet deep was not just twice that of a wall twenty feet deep, but four times as much. The range of tides also had a great deal to do with costs.

MIXED CARGOES

In connection with the effect on costs, in relation to the nature of the cargo, was also shown that where miscellaneous articles of great variety are dealt with, more expensive and extensive accommodation is required than at ports where the main business is in bulk cargoes. For London, the imports and exports consist largely of miscellaneous goods packed in vast numbers of cases and bags of varying dimensions. In one instance of a general cargo imported by a vessel into London recently, the total weight of the cargo was 4,100 tons, made up of more than 157,000 packages of different sizes, which was not an uncommon case.

Mollison, the Atlantic flyer, who married Amy Johnson, is another of Captain Brown's friends. The flight which he made across the Atlantic from England to Canada was, in the opinion of Captain Brown, a most remarkable one. Made in a Puss Moth machine of English build, a very light plane, the performance was all the more creditable.

Mr. Wakefield, the head of the firm represented by the visitor to Victoria, who is always ready to assist in good sportsmanship, is not favorable to these men taking too great risks. He used his influence to discourage the return trip being made by Mollison.

SEEKS NEW RECORD

Captain Brown has had a letter from another speed-making friend of his, the famous Sir Malcolm Campbell, in which the latter says he will be coming to America in February, bringing his car for the purpose of seeking to lower his own record made at Daytona Beach speedway.

Sir Malcolm has changed the end of his race and has now one which is designed to develop a potential speed of 300 miles per hour. Captain Brown says that while it is not anticipated that this will be attained, Sir Malcolm expects to surpass his former record of 253.968.

SHIPBUILDER PASSES AWAY

James Firth Was Former Construction Superintendent for Union Co.

NORTH VANCOUVER, Oct. 27 (CP).—James Firth, aged eighty-two, one-time construction superintendent of Union Steamship Company here, died this morning at his home, Alder Street.

His career in shipbuilding was an interesting one. Union Steamship Company's Ss. Capilano and Ss. Coquille were "knockdown" vessels, which were brought to Vancouver in sections. To Mr. Firth was entrusted the task of reconstructing them.

He was also designing engineer for Ss. Couli, and superintended the conversion of Ss. Cassiar from a freight steamer to a passenger vessel. All of these ships are well remembered by old-timers.

Born at Harry, Orkney, the deceased came to Canada forty years ago. The early years of his life were spent in a large Glasgow shipyard where he gained a fine knowledge of the shipbuilders' craft.

Deny Report That Men Were Rescued When Dredge Sank

HARBOR BEACH, Mich., Oct. 27 (CP).—Officials of the Great Lakes Towing Company, owners of the dredge Hercules, denied this afternoon that anyone was aboard the dredge when it broke loose from a towing tug and sank off Oscoda yesterday. Previous reports were that five men were aboard the had been rescued by the tug Favorite.

The company stated this afternoon the Favorite was not involved with the dredge. The Favorite was towing a steel scow, which broke loose and was today recovered by the United States coastguard cutter No. 16 and brought to Harbor Beach.

Leading Stocks At Wall Street Gain Fractions

WHEAT PRICES RALLY BRISKLY

Stocks Show Minor Price Changes Only At Eastern Markets

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP).—With speculative interest continuing at low ebb, prices moved listlessly on the Stock Exchange today, the main body of stocks closing a fraction higher.

Total transfers reached 739,102 shares. After a dull opening, stocks moved forward 1/2 to 2 points around midday, when firmer wheat prices appeared to buoy up security speculation. Later, however, the list turned downward, and early gains were replaced with small losses. A gentle gust of buying appeared in the final moments of trading, which tilted prices a shade above their closing figures of yesterday.

Gains of around a point were made by American Can, Corn Products, Pullman, Pacific Gas and American Waterworks. Public Service of New Jersey gained nearly 2. But a number of leaders, including U.S. Steel, American Telephone, General Electric, and New York Central, were unchanged to a fraction higher. General Motors closed a shade lower.

Additional earnings reports covering the third quarter, showed deficits in a large number of cases. The bond market continued to struggle feebly in the grip of indecision and, despite rallying furries, finished with a decidedly irregular appearance. Sales totaled $7,984,000, par value.

Various railway maturities moved up as high as 3 or more points before profit-taking appeared. While the utilities showed a slightly easier tendency, a number of industrials improved.

Losses of a point or more were recorded by some obligations of Australia, Cuba, Germany, Panama and Japan. The Argentines firmed, as did the Colombians and Polish. British 5 1/2's eased along with most Canadian bonds.

The principal buying in the Government department was in Treasury 3 1/8's, 548 bonds changing hands at a gain of 1-3/4 of a point.

ANGLERS FEEL LAW OF 1867
When four anglers appeared recently in court at Dunblane, Scotland, they were surprised to learn that they were prosecuted by order of the Lord Advocate under an act, passed by the Scots Parliament in 1867, which made it an offence to take fish from a private lake. The men had taken seven trout from a privately-stocked fishpond, and had rendered themselves liable to a fine of "40 pounds Scots," which, the prosecutor told the court, was equivalent to $20 in modern money. One of the men caused laughter by saying, "As far as 1867 is concerned, we were not born then, and know nothing about it." They were fined $5 each.

OLD COLLEGE SOLD FOR SONG

Famous School Built in 1816
Sold by Pictou Town Fathers

PICTOU, N.S., Oct. 27 (CP).—Canada's most famous academy of learning has been sold for $20. The "Old College," the original Pictou Academy, over which was fought the battle of the nineteenth century, against unorthodox government and religious intolerance, is to be razed for the wood in it.

Built in 1816, it gave Canada some of her distinguished sons, including eight university presidents, and germinated the seed for great educational institutions. It was abandoned about a year ago, but still rested its funny old wooden tower majestically.

FAMED ZOUAVE BOWS TO TIME

Monument Disappears From Bridge Over Seine—
Marks Danger Zone

PARIS, Oct. 27 (UP).—The famous Zouave, one of the group of four Second Empire soldiers which stand on the Pont de l'Alma over the Seine, has bowed to the march of progress and soon is to be relegated to the ash heap, along with his other three comrades who will meet with his fate a few weeks later.

For more than seventy-five years the Zouave—modeled after the hero of the Crimean War—has served as a high water mark for Parisians when the rising river caused apprehension. When the river crept slowly to and finally touched the knees of the great statue, it was time to worry. When the water began to smart and eddy about the huge stone waist of the soldier—opposed to the march of progress—soon is to be relegated to the ash heap, along with his other three comrades who will meet with his fate a few weeks later.

NOTED GRADUATES
"Old College" graduates who became presidents of Canadian universities included Sir John William Dawson, of McGill; Rev. George Munro Grant and Rev. Daniel M. Gordon, of Queen's; Rev. Donald Macrae, of St. John's; Rev. Dr. James Ross, of Dalhousie; and Rev. Dr. A. Stanley Mackenzie, who recently resigned the presidency of Dalhousie, and Rev. Dr. Clarence Mackinnon, president of Pine Hill Divinity Hall, studied at Pictou.

Vancouver Choir
To Be Heard Here
The Elgar Junior Choir of Vancouver, conducted by C. E. Findlater, A.T.C.M., will give a concert in Victoria at the Metropolitan United Church tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. An excellent programme has been prepared, and choral selections will be heard.

This choir is composed of young people chosen from the music loving section of the United Church and is being carried on in the hope that eventually the United Church of Canada, as a whole, may give official sanction to the formation throughout the Dominion of similar choirs.

Several solo members of the group took highest honors at the British Columbia Musical Festival in 1932, and loud praise of the choir's work was voiced by members of the audience when it made its first appearance in Vancouver recently.

Argentina may place all interstate truck and bus traffic in the "common carrier" class to eliminate motor competition with railways.

REBELLIOUS CHIEF MUST QUIT
Because of his rebellious behavior for several years, Impamb, chief of the Ukambi tribe in South-west Africa, is to be deposed. Impamb is wealthy and rules over 10,000 people in the desert sands of Ovamboland. Recently he attacked a mission station in which his daughter had taken refuge to escape his cruelty. He was fined ten head of cattle. The fine was increased to fifty head, and he still refuses to pay a punitive expedition, consisting of men in three United Air Force airplanes. Administrative officers have sent soldiers in two armored cars from Pretoria to force an entrance into Impamb's kraal, arrest the chief and depose him.
